TOWER ECHOES

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE AT TOWSON, MARYLAND

Influenced by progress, the goals of yesterday have become the realities of today. On the Towson Campus this progress has been reflected in the continuous growth of buildings, with the ivy gradually covering our institutions and traditions, in the attempt to meet the challenge of the expansive, changing sky—making old the new. It is for the young to create a concrete future which is now but a nebulous concept.

PRAYER,.....REV. THOS. MYERS.

HYMN.

I have a wondrous house to build,
A dwelling, humble, yet divine,
A lowly cottage to be filled
With all the jewels of the mine.

My God hath given the stone and clay:
'Tis I must fashion them aright,—
'Tis I must mould them day by day,
And make my labor my delight.

This cot, this palace, this fair home
Must be in all proportions fit,
That heavenly messengers may come
To lodge with him who tempts it.

Oh! noble work of toil and care,
Oh! simple but most arduous plan!
To raise this dwelling place so fair,
The temple and the house of man!

A MESSAGE . . .

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE AT TOWSON
BALTIMORE 4, MARYLAND

"Aloha" to the members of the largest Senior Class to graduate from our four-year college program. The appreciation comes from the contributions so many of you have made to the functioning and progress of the college. The regret comes from losing the leadership you have exerted during your four years at Towson.

We are proud that so many of you will have positions in our public schools next fall. There you will continue, I am confident, the influence and leadership you displayed during your college years. I am confident that you will also continue your education because we can certify you only as good beginning teachers. You will be wise to realize that college graduation does not mean the completion of one's education. It is a semicolon, not a period. There is so much more to learn than we have been able to teach you and so much expansion in all fields of knowledge that you will always need to continue your education by both formal and informal means.

As you have come to a crossroads in your development, so has your Alma Mater. The years ahead are likely to see new fields of service for the college, new programs of study and new facilities. We shall always be glad to have you return to the campus and we shall count on your service and support as alumni just as we have learned to expect them from you as members of the student body.

Your friend and president,

Earle T. Hawkins

TOWSON'S LITERARY REVIEW

A GENTLEMAN LEAVES VENICE

"Why indeed?" said the vintner's wife,
 Paring a cork with her husband's knife,
 "Because he's tired of our Western wine,
 And thinks in Cathay some superfine
 Draughts may be that will satisfy
 His throat, which I know will be always dry—
 There's no doubt. That is the reason why."

A silky girl with a smile too wise.
 Paused and said, "I beg to advise
 That Marco's weakness was not your wine,
 But women with lips that curve like mine.
 And the women of Ind, do the sailors say . . .
 She paused; let the flash of her eyes convey
 The delicious things she would betray.

"It's bred in his bone," a captain said.
 And it never'll leave him until he's dead—
 That hankering for the open sea,
 That sickness from land-monotony;
 I know. My home's near old Kush-Behar
 Where the parrots and cool green palm trees are.
 And here I drift like a broken spar."

A gallant played with the plum on his hat.
 "Why Marco left? Oh, as to that—
 There was a lady with flaming hair,
 And a husband who did not seem to care . . .
 But Marco reasoned, by slow degrees,
 That sudden departure sometimes frees
 One's relatives of funeral fees."

Marco himself watched the harbor slide
 Away from the ship on either side.
 He felt all Venice clinging strong
 At his throat; felt the vessel lift like a song
 To the long deep swell of the open sea.
 "Why am I leaving my Italy?
 God alone knows, not I," said he.

Countess, there was a time when garbage was a pleasure. A garbage can was not what it is now. If it smelled a little strange, it was because it was a little confused—there was everything there—sardines, cologne, iodine, roses. An amateur might jump to a wrong conclusion. But to a professional—it was the smell of God's plenty.

Mr. William C. Kramer is the man behind all of the heartaches and successes that go along with each production. Too few people appreciate this tremendous undertaking. But after all is said and done and the curtain is down on a warmfelt success, there is the realization that nothing could have happened without his direction.

Despite a 3-5-2 season, the Knights displayed a courageous, hustling style of soccer. Attention must be brought to the high caliber of soccer played in this area. The Knights were barely edged out by such teams as Baltimore U., Howard, Lynchburg, and Catholic U., who were nationally ranked. With a few breaks, Towson could have enjoyed a winning season. Ed Lorenz led the team with 12 goals, while Bunky Ford had 7 goals. Lorenz tied the Towson record for a single game with 7 goals in the Gallaudet game. Don Sudbrink and Bunky Ford were picked on the All Southern Conference team and Eugene Cherewko made the All Mason-Dixon team.

Next season should find Towson at the top of the loop when the final whistle blows.

Returning veterans plus a few promising freshmen formed a young and inexperienced cross-country team this past season. While being able to capture only one meet, they displayed the desire to win, which will no doubt enable the Knights to provide stiff competition against any conference team next season. The highlight of the season was the performance of Don Masken, who set a new Towson record for the cross-country course.

Part of the team (Smith, Hinman, Elliott, Arnold, Miller, and Feldman) take time for a pose.

Once again, Towson faced conference teams loaded with scholarship players, and came out on the short end of the score against most of the Mason-Dixon teams. More than once, Towson jumped out to an early lead, but was gradually worn down by the superior height of the opposing teams. One or two more big men could have given Towson a boost in the right direction.

Fred Arnold led all scorers with a 21.0 average, which was good enough to be the 4th leading scorer in the conference. Other bright spots for Towson were the keen shooting of freshmen Toby Greenwell and Bucky Sherman, and the fine rebounding jobs turned in by Jim Miller and Dan Elliott. Late-starter Dick Stack added many brilliant defensive plays.

Arnold jumps high to shoot over his opponent's out-stretched arms.

For the first time since wrestling was initiated to the Towson campus, the Knights were subjected to a winless season. In each meet, most of their few points were won by Orlando, Brooks, and Stefansson, all of whom turned in consistent winning performances throughout the season.

In the M-D Wrestling Championships, they were able to garner only four points, which were secured by Leo Orlando, who placed third in the 123 lb. class.

Next season should find Towson near the top of the conference when the final buzzer sounds; most of the team are new to this sport, but have gained valuable experience this year and should be able to give all opponents a battle next season.

SPRING SPORTS

While failing to reach the .500 mark this year, it must be noted that the Knights had only two pitchers to carry them through the season. The Knights had many bright spots this season including wins over highly regarded Loyola and Baltimore U. Throughout the first half of the season they led the league mainly due to the mighty bats of John Schuerholz and Joe Mills, who both closed the season with batting averages in excess of .400. Their pitchers, Lynn Hammond and Ed Humm turned in many stellar pitching performances, but insufficient rest gradually took its toll, which explains the close losses that would have sent Towson to another winning season.

Prospects for Towson baseball next year are very bright with all but two starters returning. However, the team will greatly feel the loss of catcher Lee Hammond and outfielder Paul Patrinicola, both of whom displayed consistent winning baseball, while at Towson.

Lee Hammond paced the Knights with 14 runs batted in, while Lynn Hammond, Towson's only first line pitcher, compiled 5-3 pitching record. The Knights hit conference pitching for a 6-6 record, putting them in 4th place.

Although Towson got off to a bad start this year by taking a shellacking from Dartmouth, No. 8 in the nation last year, each game found them improving in their attack and defense. Washington College also proved too much for Towson's young team, as they again ventured outside of their conference.

In conference play, they had a 3-0 record, while their overall record came to 3-4. If they had been able to schedule more class C opponents it is very likely that they would have won the class C title. However, it takes seven conference games to be considered, and Towson only played three conference teams.

The losing record does not even indicate the tremendous hustle and team spirit, which was ever-present with the lacrosse team. Not once did they concede a game until the final whistle had blown. This is best exemplified by the Brown game, in which the lead changed hands eight times. Their determination finally paid off for them with a 9-8 victory.

Outstanding this season was the fine defensive work of Jack Edwards and Ed Lorenz, which reached its summit in the Gettysburg game. They both held their attackmen scoreless.

Ken Taylor sparked on offense, scoring 19 goals to establish a new Towson scoring record.

With most of the team returning next year, Towson should have no trouble giving a good account of itself. However, it will be tough to fill the positions left vacant by the graduation of Vetter, Edwards, and Ford.

Post-season activities found Don Vetter being selected as goalie on the southern team in the annual all-star game held at Holy Cross College.

Ken Taylor is checked hard by a Gettysburg player after he has scored his 19th and final goal of the season. This enabled Ken to establish a new Towson scoring record which will give future Towson players something to aim for.

Goalie Don Vetter goes high to block a shot against Gettysburg. Once more, Don had a tremendous season in the nets for Towson. He was second in the voting for the state's best goalie with only Nippard of Baltimore University recording more first place votes.

This was a year of experiments for Dr. Minnegan. Each meet saw trackmen shifting from one event to another. These constant changes enabled Dr. Minnegan to speculate on the possibilities and potential of each member. Track records plus two field records were set. Ron Luetke high-jumped 6 feet, Bob Turner beat the old record which he had previously set in the discus throw, while Mickey Shannon turned in a new time of 52 seconds flat in the 440.

Towson's 2-5 record is no indication of the closeness of the scores. The mile relay proved to be the deciding factor in the meets with Loyola and Washington. Otherwise, the won-loss column would no doubt have read 4-3.

Masken, Baker, Alexander, Shannon, and Turner proved to be the top point winners for Towson.

Prospects for the coming season are very bright with only the loss of weightman Bob Turner hindering the return of the entire squad.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES

FRED ARNOLD

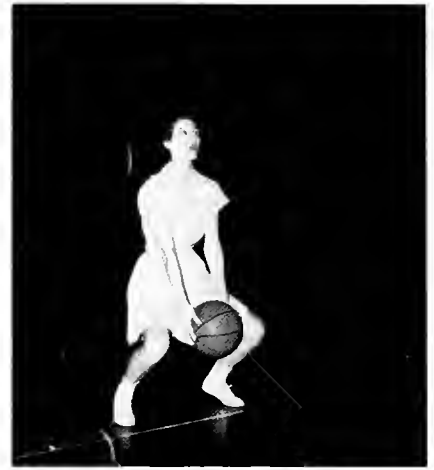

Fred was the big gun for Towson this year, as he was a fiery competitor and ended the season with 21.0 average, good enough for 4th in the conference scoring race. He also was awarded the trophy for Towson's outstanding athlete of this year.

DON MASKEN

Don became the first Towson runner ever to win a major race at indoor track. He captured the 1,000 yard handicap in the All-Eastern meet held at the Fifth Regiment Armory this past winter and was awarded the handsome trophy which he is holding.

CLASS ... PAST AND

Assemblies by the Class of '60 have spotlighted a dramatic gamut from chorus lines to character roles to featured spots.

ASSEMBLIES PRESENT . . .

CLASS
1960 presents . . .

RECIPROCITY

Climaxing four years of hard work, fun and inspiration, the Seniors effectively needled education—Towson, Russian, American—with “Reciprocity.”

ICED TEA

Welcome!

Come on in, the tea is fine.

AND SYMPATHY

You don't say . . .

Glen Esk, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins is the scene of the annual Iced Tea Sessions for the graduating class. During this time, Seniors are given the opportunity to evaluate and recount their experiences at Towson.

You mean you don't have any complaints?

The President's Dinner

A friendly chat before dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins welcome their Senior guests.

And the Seniors were fed in eloquent style.

BACCALAUREATE AND INVESTITURE

Dr. Hawkins introduces . . .

. . . the Baccalaureate speaker, Reverend Bennett J. Sims.

Dr. John McCleary speaks to the Seniors during Investiture.

Peter Coutros accepts the cap and gown on behalf of the Senior class.

A gift of $500 is given to the Ed Moulton Fund by the Senior Class.

THE FINAL FLING . . .

Dr. Bevins, class advisor, appears most pleased with his gift from the class of '60.

Hold still or I'll stick you!

BANQUET

94th COMMENCEMENT

Class of 1960

Dr. Jerome Frampton, President of the State Board of Education, awards diplomas to 306 future teachers.

Dr. John H. Fischer, Dean of Teacher's College, Columbia University and a "native son" of the Baltimore Education system, presented a most enlightening address concerning the status of education and educators.
